

Scotland.

It is the policy of the Bishops of Scotland that they will meet with and listen to those who approach them on a case by case basis and consider their requests. [...] Whether counselling will be provided, each Bishop will look into such requests on a case by case basis, and with the help of professional advice